Slim sightlines

Elegant, slim sightlines

The slimmer sightlines offered by Classic-al windows give an increased glass area and a better view of the outside world while the elegantly sculptured ovolo profile closely resembles the traditional look of timber windows.

Compared to a typical PVCu window, Classic-al sightlines can be up to 50% slimmer and have a crisper, more detailed profile.

Colours & finishes

White is always a safe bet, but why not be adventurous and choose from a palette of over 300 colours available in a matt, satin or gloss finish. You can even specify a dual colour option and have a different colour for the outside and inside.

For those wanting something even more special, choose a textured finish from 18 colour options in our new Sensations range of finishes.

The Georgian look

For a truly classic look, there are two choices to re-create the look of Georgian-style windows.

Georgian bars can be placed inside the glass unit which makes cleaning windows a simple and quick affair.

Astragal bars can be fitted to both external sides of the glass unit and separated by a back-to-back spacer bar inside the unit which, when combined with a bevelled frame bead, authentically re-create the putty line look of a traditionally glazed window.

Security

Classic-al windows are available kitemarked and tested to the rigorous enhanced security standard set by British Standards and are also approved by the police-backed 'Secured by Design' scheme.

All opening windows are fitted with a shootbolt locking mechanism and use uniquely designed shootbolt keeps for even higher security and greater peace of mind.

Energy efficiency

Classic-al windows help to save energy and retain heat inside your home thanks to a combination of the window frame's proven thermal break design and glass unit specification. Classic-al is available in energy-ratings A - C.

Form & function

Our proven window handles are ergonomically designed, push-button operated and incorporate an additional keyed deadlock. They can be specified in white, black, satin chrome or polished chrome and gold finishes.

How your windows open is a matter of choice. Choose a standard hinge, restrictor hinge (ideal for limiting openings if you have children but can still be opened fully) or an egress easy clean hinge that allows you to open the window and easily clean both sides of the glass while also providing the largest opening should you need to use the window as an emergency escape route.
